Evans City Seven Fields Calls for service are reviewed by Commission members. Lee Dyer asked a question about the parking meters and where are the officers at with writing parking tickets? Chief McCombs explained that since the parking fine increased the number of parking tickets has dropped significantly due to lack of people in town and/or paying more attention to putting money in the meters while they are parking in town. Chief also explained that quite a few of the businesses have secondary free parking for their customers.

Tom Smith wanted to let Commission members know that he and the Chief as well as Nadine will be starting the budgeting process for 2018 Budget. If anyone has any items they would like to see included in the budget to let him know.

The 2nd Quarter 2017 Budget Analysis is reviewed and seems to be right on track for the first two quarters this year. There are areas that are running a bit high, but the overall budget is at 45% used for total expenditures for the year.
